A special place to be for romantics in the UK has been revealed in a national survey. The survey of conducted by car giant Vauxhall showed that over half thought that looking at sunsets was most likely to get them in the mood for romance.

Vauxhall drew up a list of best places in the UK to watch a sunset and The White Horse at Brancaster Staithe in Norfolk has been named in their list of 8 places.

Says owner Cliff Nye - 'Yes, the deck at The White Horse has an elevated position, which gives a panoramic view across the tidal marsh to Scolt Head Island and the sea beyond. The deck faces East to West so we are lucky to see the sunrise and the sun set from this position. And, yes, romantics do enjoy a 'sundowner' and take in the incredible sunsets at the end of the day from the deck at The White Horse.'
